

If you love them, set them free

Developing digital archive collections at Salford

Helen Kenna and Karen Bates, University of Salford

Richard Badnall Papers

Collaboration between repository staff, archivists, the local community and academics allows our digital archive to grow

Working Class Movement Library

Our collections are widely available - find them through our EPrints repository; SOLAR; our Special Collections website; and the Archives Hub

Worsley New Hall

Opening up our collections is at the heart of our archives service. Preservation and promotion enables us to reach users far and wide

University of Salford
Photographic Collection

Material is digitised in-house and outsourced. Our EPrint workflows have been adapted to accommodate non-traditional content

Mike Craig Archive

Setting these resources free has increased traffic to our digital collections and improved awareness of our physical archives

The repository development has fostered a mutually beneficial relationship with the local community who have embraced the archives

<http://usir.salford.ac.uk/archives/>

